

The ROYAL MARSDEN

NHS Foundation Trust

PR and Communications Manager The Royal Marsden

The Royal Marsden NHS Foundation Trust, a world-leading cancer centre, is looking for a dynamic PR and Communications Manager to lead a busy in-house communications team. The successful applicant will have excellent external and internal communications skills, public relations and media expertise, and strong editorial and management capability which will ensure the Trust can achieve its strategic communications objectives and promote the Trust's thought leadership and reputation as the leading oncology voice in Europe.

They will work across the Trust including The Royal Marsden Cancer Charity, The Royal Marsden Private Care, The Royal Marsden School, The Royal Marsden Community Services and the NIHR Biomedical Research Centre.

The PR and Communications Manager leads a team of four and works closely with the Head of PR and Communications, and colleagues within the wider Marketing and Communications Department as well as staff across the Trust and Charity including clinicians and researchers, and external stakeholders including The Institute of Cancer Research, NHS England and Kensington Palace.

Please send CV and covering letter to Elaine Parr, Head of PR and Communications,
elaine.parr@rmh.nhs.uk

NHS

Life demands excellence

